Press Release

Polyven International and Atlantic Energy Solutions link up to service an expanding energy market.

Miami, FL, July 23, 2009: Atlantic Energy Solutions and Polyven International have linked up to capture increased market share in an expanding energy market. This is part of a North American strategy that capitalizes on Atlantic Energy Solutions historical presence and expertise in the energy services market and merges this competency with Polyven International's new business development with end use marketing and cross platform selling capabilities as well as global supply chain logistics. The current portfolio provides clients with state of the art and best practices economic solutions that ensure customers the ability to compete effectively in today's economy, helping them manage their energy infrastructure by introducing innovative new technology and methods. Both companies are committed to expanding the reach of these new and emerging technologies in the marketplace as well as assisting clients in capitalizing on current economic incentives for their future development.

John Denzer, CEO for Polyven International said, "We are very pleased with our new association with Atlantic Energy Solutions in order to expand our business services by bringing consumers into the 21st century with a renewed focus on energy management in a global competitive marketplace".

Kenneth York, Executive Vice President for Atlantic Energy said, "Mr. Denzer has embraced a wide reaching Total Solutions approach throughout his career and understands that energy solutions are a strategic opportunity for companies to embrace in this challenging and exciting environment."
